

Waterford Stanley raise €3,000 for South East Cancer Foundation

Local chef Eunice Power and Author and Founder of the Waterford Food Producers Network Michael Kelly have teamed up with Waterford Stanley to raise over €3,000 for a very worthy appeal.

The dynamic duo attracted over 250 people to the Waterford Stanley 'Grow Cook Eat' event at The Tower Hotel on Tuesday evening last, March 10. The event raised €3,000, money which goes towards the South East Cancer Foundation's campaign to raise €1 million for their new SOLAS Centre in the city.

Michael Kelly offered firsthand knowledge of growing your own fruit and vegetables to a raptured audience. From planting to harvesting, Michael cut through some of the confusion and encouraged everyone to go and try out planting some seeds and enjoy growing your own food.

As always Eunice Power of Powersfield House and author of The Waterford Stanley cookbook was busy cooking a host of healthy low cost family meals. The culinary whiz entertained and cooked eight different dishes on the Stanley Supreme using locally sourced ingredients.

Everyone on the night went away with new knowledge of the organic garden and recipes. Three lucky winners in the raffle on the night went away with a set of Aga cookware sponsored by Waterford Stanley, a Hamper of products sponsored by Ardkeen Quality Food Stores and a Hamper from Garvey's Supervalu, Dungarvan.

Commenting on the success of the event, Eileen Slattery of Waterford Stanley said the company is delighted with the tally raised; with the feedback from guests on the evening and how informative and enjoyable they found the event.

"We are thrilled that we can hand over this amount of money to the very worthy South East Cancer Foundation. We would like to thank everyone who came along on the night to support the charity."
